In the U. S. Court of Claims.

HILLEARY GRIMES
vs.
THE UNITED STATES. } No. 6872.

The petition of Hilleary Grimes respectfully represents to this honorable court:

That he is a citizen of the United States, and that he has always borne true allegiance to the Government of the same; that heretofore, to wit, on the 1st day of July, 1866, he was a messenger of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and as such received for the year from July 1, 1866, to July 1, 1867, the sum of $350, as pay for the discharge of the duties of said position, and also became entitled to the sum of $70, under the joint resolution of Congress of February 28th, 1867, allowing twenty per cent. extra compensation to persons in the civil service of the United States. Proof of the appointment of petitioner, and certificate of the First Comptroller of the Treasury of the amount received by him as compensation during the year from July 1, 1866, to July 1, 1867, are filed herewith and asked to be taken as part hereof.

That the Interior Department is the Executive Department having jurisdiction of said claim, and that the petitioner made application to said Department for the payment of his said extra compensation, which was refused.

That the said claim has never been assigned, nor has any part there of, nor any interest therein.

The petitioner prays for judgment against the United States for $70, in accordance with the act of Congress above referred to.

H. GRIMES
vs.
THE UNITED STATES. } No. 6872.

And now comes the Attorney-General, on behalf of the United States, and makes answer to the petition of the claimant herein; and, not confessing the same, or any part thereof, denies each and every the allegations therein contained, and calls for strict proof of the same.

And as to so much of the said petition as sets forth and avers that the United States are indebted to the said claimant in the sum of seventy dollars, says that they are not indebted to the said claimant in the said sum of money, nor any part thereof.

And as to so much of the said petition as avers that the said claimant has at all times borne true faith and allegiance to the Government of the United States, and never voluntarily aided, abetted, or given encouragement to rebellion against the said Government, denies the said allegation.

HILLARY GRIMES
vs.
THE UNITED STATES.

The court finds the following facts:

1. The claimant was appointed by the marshal of the District of Columbia a messenger for the supreme court of the District at a per diem compensation, and was employed and paid on the 28th day of February, A. D. 1867.

2. He received as such compensation, for one year from the 30th of June, 1866, the sum of $350, but has been paid no additional compensation under the joint resolution of February 28, 1867. (14 Stat. at Large, 569.)

RETURN J. MEIGS vs. THE UNITED STATES.
ZACHARY TAYLOR vs. THE SAME.
HILLARY GRIMES vs. THE SAME.
WILLIAM A. MULLOY vs. THE SAME.

NOTT, J., delivered the opinion of the court:

The court remains of the opinion expressed in Huntington's case, (8 C. Cl's R'p's, 495,) that the twenty per cent. resolution refers to clerks and employés in the executive branch of the Government, and does not extend to those of the judiciary. But as this decision extends to a class of persons whose counsel believes that they possess a legal right of action, but who have not the right, by reason of the smallness of the demand, to carry up the question, we render judgment pro forma for the purposes of an appeal in certain of them, in the belief that the Attorney-General will not be averse to carry the question to the Supreme Court in this manner.

The judgment of the court is that the claimant R. J. Meigs recover $400; the claimant Taylor, $67.80; the claimant Grimes, $70; the claimant Mulloy, $224.40.

D. 1875, and of the order of the chief-justice of said court, allowing the same; of the findings of fact by the court, and of the opinion of the court.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court, at Washington, this seventh day of September, A. D. 1875.
